Fat In Women Increases As Age Moves Up

By DELOS SMITH

UPI Science Editor
NEW YORK (UPI) — Between the ages of 30 and 70 the fat content of the normal woman increases by 55.3 per cent. This is the calculation of Dr. Charlotte M. Young, who is establishing a scientific baseline of how much of the female is fat and how much is lean throughout her life span.

That could sound alarming to females but, they can relax. The male doesn't do nearly as well in preserving his proportion of lean to fat as he ages. When both are young the female contains two and a half times more fat than the male does. When this normal male and this normal female reach their 70's, however, he is 30 per cent fat and she is 46 per cent. Her fat ratio has increased by 55.3 per cent but his has shot up by 176 per cent. At this stage the female contains only one and a half times more fat.

In Proper Proportion
By "Normal," Dr. Young means a woman who is not fat in the sense of being obese — a woman whose body weight is in proper proportion to her height and body build. For some years she has been measuring such women at Cornell University's Graduate School of Nutrition, Ithaca, N. Y.

The idea is to establish how much of the total women is fat. Dr. Young has measured their body density, the thickness of the skinfolds at 12 places, based on oxygen consumption, a number of skeletal dimensions, and several other parameters.

All these measurements now show that between 16 and 30 female fat is 28.69 per cent of total body weight. It increases just a little between 30 and 40 but between 40 and 50 it gets up to 35.32 per cent. After 50 it is at 41.88 per cent and at 60 it is 44.56.

"Mean body density and hence body fatness remained the same from 20 until about 40 years of age," she reported to the New York State Journal of Medicine. "Then density decreased and this body fatness increased by decades."

Her male figures came from previous scientific studies of leanest-fattest ratios. It is well known to physiologists and physicians generally that females naturally have a higher fat-to-lean ratio than males.

Fat Beneath Surface
Dr. King emphasized the skinfold measurements.

"The total thickness of skinfolds did not increase above that of the young woman until the fifth decade and at that point reflected accurately the increase in body fatness," she reported.

"However, although the skinfolds continued to increase slightly in the next two decades they by no means reflected the magnitude of the continued increase in body fatness."

This, she continued, "suggested" that beyond the age of 50 the female's increasing fat is in her central fat, far beneath her surfaces. But skinfold thickness in the abdominal regions were "superior to all of the other parameters in correlation with body density." She recommended these measurements to other scientists engaged in similar studies.

AL Batting Practice Held

By NORMAN MILLER

United Press International
They started batting practice in the American League at 6 o'clock Friday night and still were at it by midnight.

A barrage of 142 hits, 84 runs and 19 homers rattled off all those lively bats and sent pitchers scurrying for bomb shelters in the seven games played.

The cannonading produced such lopsided scores as the Los Angeles Angels' 17-0 rout of the Washington Senators; the Detroit Tigers' 11-2 shellacking of the Kansas City Athletics; and the Baltimore Orioles' 14-4 assault on the Minnesota Twins.

Detroit and Baltimore won twin-night doubleheaders, each club winning the nightcap by a modest 6-2 score. In the other games, the New York Yankees drugged the Chicago White Sox, 7-2, to widen their league lead to 11 games; and the Boston Red Sox edged the Cleveland Indians, 3-2, on Lou Clinton's 13th-inning homer.

The Homers

Russ Snyder of the Orioles and Norm Cash of the Tigers led the homer-hitting with two each. Leon Wagner walloped his 24th for Los Angeles; Jimmie Hall his 23rd for Minnesota; Jim Gentile his 21st for Baltimore; and even 38-year old Vic Wertz of the Twins got into the act with his third of the year.

Ken McBride of the Angels, who finally gained his 13th victory in his seventh try since July 24, benefited from the hottest hitting support — and the best fielding — of the night. While he held the Senators to three hits, the Angels rapped 19 hits for 17 runs and executed six double plays. The six double plays were one short of the major league record set by the Yankees in 1947.

Boston's 17th Win

Jim Bouton scattered 10 hits and Joe Pepton drove in three runs in the Yankees' win over the White Sox. The triumph was Bouton's 17th. Hoyt Wilhelm pitched four perfect innings for the Sox before Pepton's single started a two-run spurt that sent the veteran knuckleballer down to his eighth defeat against only two victories.

Bill Pappas, also enjoying 19-hit support, held the Twins to six hits in the opener and Robin Roberts pitched an eight-hitter in the nightcap for the 256th triumph of his career.

Detroit made 27 hits and 23 runs in its doubleheader sweep over Kansas City. Frank Lary pitched a six-hitter in the opener for his second win of the year and Regan's homer to Carl Yastrzemski and Ed Bressoud prior to Clinton's Dick Radatz, who relieved starter Earl Wilson in the ninth and pitched shutout ball for the last 4½ innings, was credited with his 13th victory against four defeats.

The timeliest homer of the night was Clinton's for the Red Sox in the 13th inning against Pedro Ramos of the Indians. Ramos pitched a five-hitter and struck out 13 but yielded homers to Carl Yastrzemski and Ed Bressoud prior to Clinton's Dick Radatz, who relieved starter Earl Wilson in the ninth and pitched shutout ball for the last 4½ innings, was credited with his 13th victory against four defeats.

Warren Spahn Stars In Two Roles Friday

By MILTON RICHMAN

United Press International
Versatile Warren Spahn played a Nazi soldier by day and his accused role at night and he killed the people with both performances.

The 42-year old Milwaukee south-paw made his debut as a Hollywood actor Friday and then hurried out to the ball park to beat the Los Angeles Dodgers, 6-1, and slice their National League lead to 5½ games.

The fun-loving Spahn said he wasn't sure which gave him the bigger kick.

When he showed up on the set to play a Nazi sergeant in ABC's television "Combat" series, he was given a submachine gun which he grasped in his left hand.

Told to carry the gun in his right hand, Spahn quipped:

"I first battles with my left."

That was the head he used to gain his 16th victory of the season and the 343rd of his career Friday night against the Dodgers.

Scattered Nine Hits
Spahn scattered nine hits, drove in one of the Braves' runs with a sacrifice fly in the sixth, and scored another on Frank Bolling's single after doubling off reliever Larry Sherry in the ninth.

Dead set on winning 20 games for the 13th time in his career, Spahn beat the Dodgers for the fourth time this year and was ahead from the first inning when Eddie Mathews hit his 19th homer with one on off 19-year old Dick Cullum.

The Dodgers' only run off Spahn also came in the first when Tommy Davis singled home Maury Wills from second.

The Cardinals took advantage of the Dodgers' loss to gain a full game on them by beating the Colts, 4-1, while the Giants moved to within 6½ games of first place with an 11-3 win over the Reds. The Phillies defeated the Pirates, 4-2, and the Cubs edged the Mets, 6-5.

Gibson Won 14th
Bob Gibson won his 14th for the Cardinals with a five-hitter over the Colts. St. Louis scored all four of its runs off Dick Farrell (10-10) in the first inning. George Allen's two-run double began the big blow. Bill White had four of the Cards' eight hits.

Willie McCovey drove in three runs with three hits while Tom Haller and Chuck Hiller each homered as the Giants used a 16-hit attack to knock over the Reds. Bob Bolin, who relieved starter Jack Sanford in the fourth, blanked the Reds the rest of the way for his eighth victory. Jim Maloney (18-6) suffered the loss.

Dennis Bennett picked up his seventh victory for the Phillies against only two defeats although screwballer Jack Balderson had to throw a Pirate threat in the seventh.

Wes Covington's 14th homer with one on off looser Don Schwall in the third put the Phils ahead for good and they scored what proved to be the last winning run in the fifth on an error by third baseman Bob Bailey. Jim Pagnani homered for Pittsburgh.

Billy Williams hit a pair of two-run homers, his 20th and 21st, and drove in five of the Cubs' runs in their victory over the Mets. Paul Toth, first of three Chicago pitchers, was credited with his fifth win in 13 decisions while Larry Bearman dropped his sixth decisions against two victories.

CENTENNIAL SCRAPBOOK

The War for the Union 1861-65 in Pictures

No. 339 Thirty months after the Rebellion spread from Fort Sumter in the harbor across the whole South, Charleston itself remained virtually untouched by the fighting. The forts taken by the Rebels between December 1860 and mid-April 1861 were augmented by harbor defensive works engineered by Maj. Gen. P. T. G. Beauregard, and protected Charleston well. The Union Navy learned by costly experience in 1862 that its best wooden warships were not equal to the task of reducing the defenses and opening the city. It took the strongest new ironclads, and swift-moving new monitors, mounting the most powerful guns available, to show any results. The newest rifled cannons were the invention of John A. Dahlgren, the chief of the Navy Bureau of Ordnance, who was sent to take over the attacking naval forces after other commanders at Charleston had failed. Fort Sumter, which had remained relatively undamaged under fire earlier, crum-

[1] Contemporary sketch of Union shells exploding in Fort Sumter, Charleston, in 1863. bled under concentrated, incessant fire. On Aug. 17, 1863, an estimated 950 shells were directed at it from monitors and larger ironclads, while Battery Wagner and other harbor defenses were under assault simultaneously. Shots that went astray in the bombardments hit in the city and Charleston finally felt what other important Southern cities had undergone. Yet even with Fort Sumter a shambles, defenders stayed there, living in the ruins, and mending the remaining serviceable guns. As indicated earlier in this series, engineers were made to aid them with remarkable innovations: electrical torpedoes, a submarine and semi-submersibles. These were less effective than refusal of Sumter's Rebel defenders to give up as readily as Union defenders in 1861. They never surrendered. —CLARK KINNAIRD

Miss Lochie Belle Overbey Becomes Mrs. Maurice Ronald Christopher II in Ceremony

MRS MAURICE RONALD CHRISTOPHER II

Miss Lochie Belle Overbey became the bride of Maurice Ronald Christopher II at 4:30 o'clock August 20 when the wedding vows were said in the Murray Methodist Church with the Rev. Lloyd W. Rumer, church minister, conducting the double-ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Mary Belle Clark Overbey and Atty. Wells Overbey. Mr. Christopher is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice P. Christopher. Both families are of Murray.

The nuptial rites were observed in the church's traditional candlelight. Two vases of white gladioli were on the altar table.

Miss Lillian Walters, organist, played "Cher de Luce" while Master George Hart Landolt served as acolyte with the aid of Cadet PFC Wells Overbey, cousin of the bride, and Jerry Rose and Buddy Parris lighted the candles at the ends of the altar table.

As "Dream Girl of Pi Kappa Alpha" was played, ushers escorted to seats of honor Misses Jane Squifflet, Nancy Hodges, Ann Tate, Nancy Roberts, Gail Houston, Mary Frank Holcomb, Leah Caldwell, Melissa Sexton, Sara Hughes and Mrs. Bobby Fain and Mrs. Ted Sykes.

Mrs. John Bowker sang "Because" and "God Give Me You" and "The Lord Bless You." Miss Walters played "Lend Me Your Ears" and "The Lord Bless You." Perfect Love" and the traditional wedding marches.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a cotton-backed tulle dress of sole imported gown trimmed with shadow lace. The back of the skirt featured a lace

Miss Jane Watson Presides At Meet Of Rainbow Girls

Murray Assembly No. 19 Order of the Rainbow for Girls held its regular meeting at the Masonic Hall on Tuesday evening at seven o'clock at the Masonic Hall.

Miss Jane Watson, worthy advisor pro-tem, presided at the meeting. Miss Pat Jackson, recorder pro-tem, read the minutes.

Plans were discussed further for the Assembly to attend the Fraternal Day in Louisville on Sunday, September 22. Reservations should be made at the next regular meeting to be held on Tuesday, September 3.

Those reported on the sick list were Shirley Stroud, Jean Thurman, Diane Vaughn, and Diane Tallafiero.

Members present were Jane Watson, Rhonda Vance, Carolyn McNeely, Ginny Shelton, Pat Jackson, Sherrie McCusiston, Barbara Flynn, Cherylne Fair, Anita Flynn, Pat Carmel, Phyllis Flynn, Inae Young, and Betty Maynard. Eastern Stars and Masons present were Mrs. Frances Churchill, mother advisor, and Charles Flynn.

Her flowers were pink orchids. Mrs. Christopher, mother of the groom, wore a champagne lace gown with harmonizing hat and shoes. Her flowers were green orchids.

Mrs. Bruce Overbey, grandmother of the bride, wore a blue and cranberry dress and white carnations. Mrs. E. W. Baker, grandmother of the groom, wore a blue and white gown and a white carnation corsage.

Mr. Christopher was the son's best man. Groomsman were Messrs Harold Hurt, Murray; Bill O'Brien, Benton; Sidney Esley, Kirksey; and Roger Little, Litchfield, Ill. brother-in-law of the groom. Ushers were Messrs David Denton, Somerset; Jerry Don Neal, Robert Vaughn, Jerry Rose, Buddy Parris, and Ted Sykes, Murray. Messrs Hurt, Esley, Sykes, Denton, Neal, Vaughn, and Rose are fraternity brothers of the groom. Mr. O'Brien was a college roommate.

A reception in the church parlor followed the wedding. The receiving line was composed of Mrs. Mary Belle Clark Overbey, Mrs. Maurice P. Christopher, the bride and groom, Miss Mary Wells Overbey and the bridesmaids.

The wedding cake was the feature of the tea table which was covered with white satin and net, and centered with a floral arrangement of white gladioli and mums. Cherub candelabras completed the decoration.

Miss Jane Squifflet, Harrodsburg, served the punch. Miss Ann Tate, Hazard, presided at the cake service. Miss Nancy Roberts and Mrs. Roger Little, sister of the groom, Litchfield, Ill., registered the guests. Misses Gail Houston, Sara Hughes, Melissa Sexton, Mary Frank Holcomb and Leah Caldwell, and Mrs. Ted Sykes helped in the serving. Others who were hostesses were Mesdames Gordon Moody, aunt of the bride; Dan Hart, Nat Ryan, Hughes, Harold Douglas, Gene Landolt, Carrie Hutspeth and George Hart.

Mr. and Mrs. Christopher left for a honeymoon at undisclosed location. She wore a three-piece natural silk linen outfit with accessories of the same color. Her flowers were her wedding bouquet. The couple will return to Murray August 25 and leave for Lexington Aug. 26 where they will reside. She is beginning her duties as teacher in the sixth grade in one of the city schools there. Mr. Christopher will re-enter law school in September.

Mr. and Mrs. Christopher are graduates of Murray High School and attended Murray State College. Mrs. Christopher graduated from the University of Kentucky in September. Mr. Christopher will re-enter the University of Kentucky in September to continue his studies in the law school.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding were Mrs. Harlan Hodges, Anna, Ill.; Bill Jones, Louisville; Mrs. E. A. Houser and Miss Nancy Houser, Frankfort; Mrs. Herman Oument and Miss Ladonna Weaver, Mayfield; Mrs. B. D. Baker, Cairo, Ill.; Mr. and Mrs. Howard Huff, Louisville; Mr. and Mrs. John Reed, Cairo, Ill.; Mrs. Roger Little and Miss Susan Little, Litchfield, Ill.; Misses Jane Squifflet, Harrodsburg; Miss Ann Tate, Hazard; the Darcey Eaker family — Misses Nancy, Helen and Susie, Nashville, Tenn.; Mrs. Gertrude Moore, Somerset; and Mrs. Ronald Terrell and Miss Jane Early, LaCenter.

panel caught with two tailored bows, and ended in a semi-chapel train. The front of the floor-length skirt was eased at the hip-line with soft pleats. The bodice of lace was designed with a natural neck line; the back was fastened with self-covered buttons as were the wrist-length pointed sleeves. Her head-dress was a bandeau of pearls and held the finger-tip veil of illusion. She carried a white Bible on which was a bouquet of gardenias. Her only jewelry was a diamond pendant, a gift of the groom.

Bridesmaids, classmates and sorority sisters of Mrs. Christopher, were Misses Julie Houser, Frankfort, Joni Jameson, Rossville, Tenn., Jean Squifflet, Harrodsburg, and Betty Hart, Murray. Miss Mary Wells Overbey was her sister's maid of honor.

Their dresses of turquoise silk faille were fashioned in empire style, floor-length, and accented in the back by a double-looped flowing trim. Their head-dresses were rings of matching faille and net. They wore short gloves and shoes that matched their dresses. The bouquets were of Fuji mums.

Flower girls, Little Misses Cathy Christopher, sister of the groom, and Debbie Landolt, wore floor-length dresses made of material that matched the gowns of the bridesmaids. They wore short white gloves and shoes of the same color of the gowns and the ribbons in their hair.

Mrs. Overbey wore for her daughter a delicate shade of rose all-over lace dress with matching sleeveless jacket and accessories.

Williams-Dunn Wedding Vows Read

MR. AND MRS. LARRY JOSEPH DUNN

The marriage of Miss Shirley Stroud, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Collins of Irvan St. Murray, to Larry Joseph Dunn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Prentice Dunn Olive St. Murray, was solemnized Wednesday, August 14.

The double ring ceremony was performed at two o'clock in the afternoon at the College Church of Christ, with Bro. Paul Hodges officiating in the presence of the immediate families of the couple.

A cappella music was played softly in the background throughout the ceremony.

The bride wore a white street length sheath dress of broadened taffeta and a small white hat with veil. Her corsage was of white carnations.

Miss Sonja Wilson of Mayfield was the maid of honor. She wore a soft pink cotton dress trimmed in the matching lace. Her hat was of the same shade of pink and her corsage was made of variegated pink carnations.

Larry Knight, a college friend, served as best man.

Mrs. Collins, mother of the bride, wore a navy and black printed silk dress with black accessories. Her corsage was white carnations on blue net.

Mrs. Dunn, mother of the groom, chose a navy silk jersey dress with white accessories. Her corsage was composed of pink carnations on deep pink net.

The bride is a graduate of Murray High School and is a sophomore at Murray State majoring in business.

Mr. Dunn graduated from New Concord High School in 1960, and received his B. S. degree with an area in Art at Murray State Aug. 9, 1963. He holds membership in Kappa Pi, a national honorary Art fraternity.

Mr. Dunn has accepted a position to teach art at South Hopkins High School, near Madisonville, Kentucky.

Immediately following the ceremony the couple left for their apartment at 48 Lake St., Madisonville, Kentucky.

Dear Abby...

A Reason For Telling!

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I know a practical nurse who is a disgrace to the profession. She was hired to care for an elderly lady who is almost helpless. After the P. N. puts this elderly lady to bed she goes out the back door and across the street to spend the night with a widower who lives alone. She is supposed to be sleeping in the bedroom next to the patient in case she is needed during the night. I am not the kind of person who makes trouble, but I think somebody to tell the family of this poor old helpless woman, and I don't know them well enough.

SEEKING: To be aware of this situation and withhold it from the family is, in my opinion, morally wrong. Since you don't know the family well enough to tell them, find someone who does. But see to it that the family learns the truth immediately.

DEAR ABBY: I am married, but for reasons I cannot put in a letter I am unable to keep my baby. Will a home for unwed mothers take me?

NIGHTMARE

DEAR NIGHTMARE: Yes, there are SOME homes that will take married girls. Send me your name and address.

DEAR ABBY: About six years ago a nice young couple moved into our neighborhood. I'll call them Mabel and Pete, which are not their real names. My husband and I became very friendly with them. They had two children and so did we. Two years ago, for no reason at all, Pete walked off and left Mabel. She was five months pregnant at the time. We never saw Pete again, but Mabel said they were divorced and she gets alimony and support money regularly. We have been like a family to Mabel. Out of the blue my husband told me he wanted to ADOPT Mabel's youngest child, a sweet boy. I knew my husband was fond of this child, but I can't see why he would want to ADOPT him. He said Mabel would continue to raise him but the boy would be legally his "son". Isn't this rather unusual? What would you do, Abby?

IN A DAZE

DEAR IN: I'd tell my husband to forget it. And if you are like a "family" to Mabel, do her a favor and help her find a nice man to complete her own family.

DEAR ABBY: Last night I took a baby-sitting job in the neighborhood. I had just started to sit for money and it was my first time with these people. I am 14 and my mother won't let me sit anywhere later than midnight. It was agreed with these people that I'd sit from seven until midnight for 50c an hour. The children were perfect and gave me no trouble. It got to be 12:30 and the parents were not home, yet. My mother called twice and I had to tell her I couldn't leave because the parents were still out. Finally, at 1 A.M., I telephoned the parents (they were at a relative's home) and asked them please to come home. They came right away and apologized for forgetting the time. They tipped me a dollar, too. Now my mother won't let me sit for them any more. It only happened once. Do you think my mother is being fair?

SITTER

DEAR SITTER: I would say, give the night owls one more chance.

It's Kid Stuff New Camera Makes Picture-Taking Easy

By JOAN O'SULLIVAN

At what age should a youngster have his first camera?

It depends on the child, but often a boy or girl of eight is ready to shoot snapshots. It's up to the individual child and when he starts to show a real interest in people and places.

AIM-AND-SHOOT Model

For a first camera, a sturdy, easy-to-use type is a wise choice. One new aim-and-shoot model is easy because loading it is so easy.

You simply drop the film cartridge into the camera and that's that. There's no margin for error because the cartridge fits only one way—the right way.

For A Starter

Start your youngster off on black-and-white film. When he becomes expert, he can graduate to color prints, slides and flash pictures. The new easy-load camera, by the way, has a pop-up flash holder that slips back into the camera when not in use.

Give your youngster a few elementary tips on how to take pictures. Here are rules that should help him get good results.

1. Hold the camera steady and squeeze the button gently.
2. Be careful not to place your thumb in front of the lens. Also watch the neck-strap. It's apt to stray in this direction, too.
3. Shoot from as close as

IT'S A WISE shutterbug who takes advantage of sure-fire picture material such as a new puppy. The camera's aimed to get a good shot when puppy turns toward the lens.

You can without cutting off any important part of the picture. About five feet is the minimum distance when using a box camera.

4. Let the sunlight come from over your shoulder and a little to one side.

Best Time To Shoot

5. The best time to take outdoor pictures is mid-morning or mid-afternoon when the sun is not directly overhead.

6. If snapping a person, don't face him directly towards the sun so he squints into the lens.

7. Don't picture people staring into the camera. Catch them doing something.

8. Keep the camera lens clean. A soft, lintless cloth removes dust and most smudges.

Progress Record

Get junior a scrapbook for his snapshots. It will serve as a record of his photo-taking progress.

Picture-taking is a hobby that can be enjoyed for a lifetime and it's one that can lead to other interests, too. It may even result in guiding a child to a career. Photography may be one occupation. If he's interested in darkroom work, chemistry could be another. Even art is a possibility if he enjoys the composition and design aspects of picture-taking.

FOOLPROOF LOADING is feature of new aim-and-shoot camera. Film cartridge only fits one way—the right way!

YOUNG FAN enjoys pasting up his album. It provides a record of his progress in taking better and better pictures.
